

CONTENTS

List of Cases	xi
List of Rapporteurs	xxxii

General Report: Plurality and Diversity in the World – Is there Any Ius Commune?

Laurence BURGORGUE-LARSEN and Krzysztof WOJTYCZEK	1
1. Introductory Remarks	2
2. The Power of the Liberal Foundation	16
3. The Persistence of Socio-Historical Constraints	54
4. Conclusion	76

Rapport Général: Pluralité et diversité a travers le monde – Existe-t-il un Ius Commune ?

Laurence BURGORGUE-LARSEN et Krzysztof WOJTYCZEK	79
1. Introduction	80
2. La puissance de la fondation libérale	96
3. La persistance des contraintes socio-historiques	135
4. Conclusion	158

Argentina

Alejandra RODRÍGUEZ GALÁN	161
1. Introductory Remarks	161
2. The Argentine Constitutional Framework	161
3. The Notion of Plurality	164
4. The Notion of Diversity	170
5. Conclusion	176

Belgium

Catherine VAN DE HEYNING	177
1. Introductory Remarks	177
2. Freedom of Religion, Moral and Ethical Conviction	179
3. The Protection of Neutrality and Pluralism in the Constitution	184
4. Neutrality, Pluralism and Diversity	193

5. Case Study: Wearing an Islamic Veil in Education	197
6. Conclusion.....	205

Brazil

Lucas MENDES FELIPPE and Lucas Carlos LIMA.....	207
---	-----

1. Introduction	207
2. Protecting Racial Minorities	209
3. Protecting Indigenous and Traditional Peoples	214
4. Protecting LGBT+ Minorities.....	218
5. Conclusion.....	222

Canada-Anglophone

Faisal A. BHABHA	225
------------------------	-----

1. Introductory Remarks	226
2. Canada's Global Constitutional Influence: Doctrines of Equality and the Protection of Minorities.....	228
3. Diversity in Canada	252
4. Conclusion.....	264

Canada-Québec

Stéphane BEAULAC	267
------------------------	-----

1. Remarques introductives	267
2. La pluralité juridique dans l'ordre constitutionnel canadien	268
3. La diversité juridique dans l'ordre constitutionnel canadien	276
4. La circulation des idées en matière de pluralité et de diversité	280
5. Remarques conclusives.....	282

Côte d'Ivoire

Djedjro Francisco MELEDJE.....	285
--------------------------------	-----

1. Introduction	286
2. L'application graduée de la notion de pluralité en Côte d'Ivoire.....	288
3. L'application souple de la notion de diversité en Côte d'Ivoire.....	301
4. La migration des idées	312
5. Conclusion générale : de la consolidation des idées en matière de pluralisme et de diversité	314

Czech Republic

Veronika BÍLKOVÁ.....	317
-----------------------	-----

1. Introductory Remarks	317
2. Political and Confessional Plurality	318

3. Plurality of Legal Orders	324
4. Diversity of the Czech Society.....	333
5. Concluding Remarks	341

European Human Rights System

Michał BALCERZAK.....	343
1. Introduction	343
2. Freedom of Expression and Media Pluralism.....	346
3. Pluralism and Freedom of Religion	350
4. Intercultural Dialogue, Cultural Rights and Cultural Identity.....	352
5. Political Parties and the Limits of Freedom of Association	358
6. Conclusions.....	361

Germany

Eva Julia LOHSE	363
1. Introductory Remarks	364
2. Protection of Plurality and Diversity under the German Grundgesetz....	364
3. A Diverse and Pluralistic, but not Defenceless Society.....	381
4. Substantive Guarantees of Diversity as Individual Rights.....	384
5. Reflection of Plurality and Diversity in Law-Making, Administration and Judicial Review	388
6. Conclusion.....	398

Greece

Alexandra DOUGA and Vassiliki KOUMPLI	399
1. Introductory Remarks	400
2. The Notion of Plurality.....	400
3. The Notion of Diversity.....	414
4. Circulation of Ideas on Plurality and Diversity in the Field of Human Rights.....	431

Inter-American Human Rights System

Sergio GARCÍA RAMÍREZ	435
1. Introductory Remarks	435
2. The Inter-American Legal Order	437
3. Equality and Non-Discrimination	440
4. Liberties at Stake in a Diverse Region	446
5. The Interpretation Trend	451
6. Economic, Social, Cultural and Environmental Rights in a Diverse Environment	457

Italie

Elena GRASSO 461

1. Introduction 461
2. La Constitution italienne, entre personnalisme catholique et socialisme démocratique 464
3. La Cour constitutionnelle et la résolution des conflits 467
4. La boussole du principe d'égalité 469
5. Conclusion..... 484

Japan

Masako KAMIYA 489

1. Introductory Remarks 489
2. The Japanese Constitutional Framework..... 493
3. The Myth of Homogeneity..... 499
4. Judicial Independence and Protection of Human Rights 501

Mexico

Irene SPIGNO 507

1. Introductory Remarks 507
2. Philosophical, Religious and Moral Conceptions Behind the Protection of Human Rights in Mexican Constitutionalism 509
3. The Constitutional Protection of Pluralism..... 519
4. The Constitutional Protection of Diversity 529
5. The Constitutional Protection of Identity 532
6. Is Mexican Constitutionalism Militant in Protecting Human Rights? Some Final Remarks..... 539

Peru

César LANDA 547

1. Introductory Remarks 548
2. The Plurality of Philosophical, Religious and Moral Conceptions 549
3. The Coexistence of Legal Systems in National Experience..... 556
4. The Importance of Diversity in Peruvian Constitutionalism 562
5. Plurality and Diversity of Human Rights 573
6. Conclusion..... 576

Sénégal

Alioune SALL	577
1. Introduction	578
2. La pluralité, pilier essentiel de la construction d'un État démocratique au Sénégal	579
3. La diversité, valeur inspiratrice de la construction nationale au Sénégal	590
4. Conclusion.....	600

South Africa

Anton KOK	601
1. Introduction	601
2. The Most Relevant Rights Relating to Diversity and Plurality in the South African Bill of Rights.....	602
3. How the National Constitution Conceptualizes Philosophical, Religious and Moral Pluralism	604
4. The Constitutional Recognition of the Existence of Several Legal Orders in the Lives of Individuals	608
5. South African Case Law Relating to Pluralism and Diversity and Competing Normative Orders	609
6. Conclusion.....	620

Spain

Zoila COMBALÍA and Jaime ROSSELL	623
1. Introductory Remarks	623
2. The Spanish Constitutional Framework on Religious and Ideological Plurality	624
3. The Coexistence of Different Legal Orders Protecting Religious and Ideological Freedom	632
4. How Spain Deals with Diversity and Identities	635
5. Circulation of Ideas on Plurality and Religious Diversity.....	643

Tunisie

Rafaâ BEN ACHOUR	647
1. Introduction	647
2. Ambiguïté constitutionnelle tunisienne à l'endroit du pluralisme	649
3. Diversité et identité en Tunisie	655
4. Circulation des idées	659
5. Conclusion.....	660

Turkey

Bertil EMRAH ODER and Begüm GÜRCÜOĞLU 661

1. Introductory Remarks 661
2. Plurality, Neutrality and Secularism 662
3. Civic Society and Pluralism 670
4. Diversity in the Turkish Constitution 672
5. Plurality and Diversity in Circulation 689
6. Conclusion 695

United States

Christoph HENKEL 697

1. Introductory Remarks 697
2. The Notion of Plurality 702
3. The Notion of Diversity 717
4. Circulation of Ideas on Plurality and Diversity in the Field of Human Rights 726
5. Pluralism and Human Rights 730
6. Concluding Remarks 732

Vietnam

Tat Dung DANG and Van Nhiem VU 733

1. Introduction 733
2. Diversity and Plurality in the Constitution and its Interaction with Other Laws in Vietnam 734
3. The Neutral and Pluralistic Nature of the State and its Expression of Human Rights in Vietnam 736
4. Plurality and its Relationship to Other Legal Orders and Legislation 738
5. The Plurality and Judicial Review in Vietnam 743
6. Conclusion 745

Appendix: Questionnaire 747

Index 753